Inquiries and Complaints

Inquiries: If you are disappointed with the Company's services, or you would like assistance with inquiries of a general nature, regarding your account or trading activity with us, you may contact our Customer Support Department via live-chat, email or telephone. Inquiries can be received via phone, letter, email or by any other form of communication. You must tell us as soon as possible about any dispute – the sooner you inform us, the easier it will be to resolve the matter. In the first instance, you should try to resolve your dispute through the usual customer service channels, as they are able to resolve the vast majority of disputes and very often issues arise as a result of misunderstandings and can be easily resolved.

You will be asked to provide full details of your issue (for example the date and time of the disputed trade). The more information you can provide, the easier it will be to resolve the matter. Customer services will endeavour to resolve all such matters as soon as possible but in any event within two business days.

If our customer services team is unable to resolve the matter or you feel that our service has not met your expectations and you wish to make a formal complaint, you may raise this further with the Compliance Department following the process indicated in the following section.. Their role is to independently review all complaints constructively and sympathetically, ensuring that where we are at fault, things are put right at the earliest opportunity.
